

Old World Elegance for Luxury Residential

Photographer: Connie Zhou

Hope's Windows, widely regarded for our ability to customize and meet virtually any design vision and performance criteria, went a step beyond mere customization to create an entirely new product that replicates and preserves historic window features for the Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard.

The resulting arrow-shaped profiles are unique to the present-day market and are exclusive to Hope's. They represent a return to Old World style three-point steel casement profiles produced in the early 20th century, yet with 100 years of advancements for modern performance.

As this incredibly thin and elegant arrow-shaped profile became increasingly popular, demand grew for doors and other operational types in the residential market.

Hope's responded and is pleased to announce the release of our new complete product line — Hope's Old World Suite™.
